CONFIDENTIAL FYI (for your eyes only)

TMM blew up Valarie Burns today

She can be tough, but she has been a stalwart for TMM

I will work to restore the relationship, but this one will take some time

Jim

This is to let you know about a call I received today from the Mayor I imagine this is the kind of thing that you might want to stay out of

The Mayor called me to yell at me about my comments at a BRA meeting this week in my neighborhood I imagine he was briefed by Kairos and possibly Jay Walsh. I am attaching an article on the mtg that ran in the Herald As far as I know this is only article but there may be others

The Mayor was yelling that I called his administration immoral which I did not Not that it mattered to him, I called the plan that that the BRA presented to my neighborhood immoral not his administration The meeting was emotional and some of us left in tears knowing what the developers now were succeeding in doing to Ft Pt

I have supported and defended the Mayor for his entire tenure in almost every neighborhood in the city including my own Even if I did not agree with or understand the mayor's position, I have always trusted him

It is heartbreaking to have our relationship to end like this i am very concerned that his very long memory will effect the work that BNAN does

In my haste, I forgot to remind people of the very important Christmas Trolley tour this coming weekend. You all should be focused on building the biggest crown ever. This is our LAST Trolley Tour before next November. It's imperative that all of you get the word out. I will be attending this event, at each and every stop. I look forward to seeing very large crowds throughout the city. Please let me know if any of you foresee problems with turnout.

Thank you in advance for your anticipated great job!

Hey Michael

Turner called Assessing and asked them for this list on PILOT payments. It has all been referenced publicly before, and the list itself is public record. Do you have a problem with my giving it to him?

Hey Mike

Ciommo just gave me a heads up that Yoon is late filing an order on the BRA's process re: BC. Ciommo signed on and got him to scale back the language on it, but he said it is most likely coming from the Brighton Neighbors United group. It is critical of the board vote in January and the issue with the Zoning Commission in March. They didn't have the language yet, but they will get it to me as soon as they do. I'll keep you posted.

i should bring them in for a mtg. w TMM after 1st of the year. TMM got great play at their event, esp. From Rich Rogers. He was over the top, and I let him know it was appreciated but also that he was on TMM's naughty list, which he acknowledged. We'll pick up the pieces in 2009.

December 19, 2008

Dear (Contact First Name),
On Saturday December 6th we officially launched the Green Justice Coalition, Community Labor United's 3rd Campaign. Over 200 people gathered at Historic 12th Baptist Church in Roxbury to launch this important campaign that is a part of the movement to change our economy and our planet.

In particular low-income communities and communities of color have been overburdened by our unsustainable economy and we want to ensure that these communities are at the forefront of the growing green, sustainable economy. On the 6th speakers from ACORN, ACE, Mass COSH, Clean Water Action, Project RIGHT, BCAN, Painters DC35 and the Greater Boston Labor Council highlighted the need for many different sectors to come together to achieve our shared goals. Jim Hunt, the city of Boston's Chief of Environmental and Energy Services also came out to support the work of the Green Justice Coalition.

We also released a research report entitled The Green Justice Solution:

Here are just a few on the reasons why we believe energy efficiency is a proven strategy:

- Reduces GHG emissions, with the potential to shrink Greater Boston's carbon footprint more quickly than any other strategy;
- Saves money for consumers by reducing heating costs, helping residents stay in their homes and helping businesses stay competitive;
- Keeps money in the local economy rather than using it to pay for imported fuels;
- Improves air quality in our homes and communities, reducing asthma and other respiratory diseases;

In 2009 we will be working to bring the visions of our coalition into a reality. CLU continues to rely on your support to make all of these efforts possible. Please consider making a contribution to our efforts to make Greater Boston a place where working people can thrive.

Sincerely,
Lisa Clauson

Annette/Cathy:

TMM called 4500 this AM to inquire about a dumpster parked in front of 22 Thacher St. in the North End. Please let him know the dumpster is legally permitted for roof repair work being done at 22 Thacher St. We are checking with BTM regarding the status of the permit (i.e. when it expires, etc.) and will get back to you with that information when received.

Feel free to call back with any further questions.

"Councillor Sam Yoon is here today." (TMM looks at his watch) "Don't worry, Sam, with the time difference you can just make it to the St. Patrick's Day Breakfast in San Francisco."

"Councillor Michael Flaherty is here today. You know, a lot of people think that he and I are rivals, but that's just not true. In fact, just last week I invited him over my house to play with my pet chimpanzee."

Some thoughts.....

2 points-

9/19/2009

1- I thought that the flub jar would also include any jokes told about TMM: something like-

"also in the jar- any jokes today about my mumbling will cost you $1- seeing that none of you have had a new joke in the 17 years I've been here- that should cover the toll raise and be a win win for Boston-Jack- make the check out to The City of Boston"

2- How about this....

"Gov Patrick wants back the "Good old days" - when people bashed him for only Cadillac's and drapes!"

I cleaned it up a little. Reed can you do a grammer and spell check.

Feel free to add anything, as you can see I am struggling with the what people will get out of recovery money.
